

Elephant Buddy

As the story goes, the first Blockhead, or Brickheadz, was an Elephant named Elie designed by Austin Carlson for a coworker. I used that “blockhead” as the inspiration for this Elephant Buddy. My intention was to create a unique, more modern, interpretation of that original design.

The color palette remains the same, which presented unique challenges. I tried to make the nose and ears appear closer to an actual elephant. I gave it a more rounded torso, both on the front and the back. I went back and forth on using the traditional clip hands or sticking with the original design which used tiles, and decided it looked better with the modified plate with clip.
